many times they do not.

ESTABLISHED FACT
"And the labourer is worthy of his hire."
This economic statement was a very long before, and since its utterance. The person who performs labor is entitled to compensation. The rate of remuneration naturally varies, according to the light in which we view the importance of the task. However, when work is performed for a political subdivision the law fixes the amount to be received.

COVERT ATTACK
Although not openly, a covert attempt is apparently being made to create the belief that amounts drawn by several members of the late William Lewis grand jury were excessive, and thus through indirection and innuendo throw out the impression that bills for unnecessary services were presented to the county. The facts fail to justify any such conclusion.

Although not a rabid adherent of the grand jury system, which to my mind is archaic in many respects, there are functions which that body performs, which are necessary and vital factors of good government.

FOR EXAMPLE
Had it not been for the efforts of the inquisitorial body the Mc-Cord scandal would not have been uncovered. A previous grand jury had, in fact, commended the conduct of the social service department under her guidance and an audit of the accounts apparently showed that everything was running along smoothly and legally.

It was not a pleasant task that the grand jury essayed in this matter, but no one can gainsay the fact that the outcome fully justified its endeavors and dis-

Husband, Wife
Are Reconciled
At City Prison

After her husband had been picked up by police on San Pablo avenue yesterday morning, following an all-night search by State police, Mrs. Margaret Madden of 1629 Pennsylvania avenue, became reconciled with Lee Madden, 23, former University of California student.

The reconciliation took place at the local police station after Madden had been apprehended on the complaint of his wife who told Mill Valley police that he had "kidnaped" their two small sons and had threatened to kill both them and himself. Madden was picked up by Traffic Officer
Roy Middleton as he drove into Richmond with his brother, William, and two children. Madden had driven to Eureka. He denied the story that he had threatened to harm his wife or children.

When Marin county officers appeared yesterday afternoon to arrest Madden, only a charge of reckless driving was produced.
Police Judge C. A. Odell refused to hold Madden on a misdemeanor charge.

Madden and his wife were reunited in the city jail and agreed to "patch things up."
He was questioned at the city jail by Chief L. E. Jones, and told the officer that he and his wife had been having domestic difficulties for some time.

Fire Threatens
Industrial Area

FRESNO, July 13.—UP—A fire which threatened a large section of Fresno's industrial district for a time late tonight destroyed the Elmore Packing Company plant at a loss estimated at more than $5-000.

Fanned by a warm breeze, the fire spread to a shed of the Guggenheim Packing Company but was controlled after burning part of the roof. Cause had not been determined late tonight.

MRS. WALEY IS FOUND GUILTY

Special Session Of Legislature Will Be Held HOUSE IN REVOLT ON TAX MEASURE

TACOMA, Wash., July 13.—UP—Margaret Thulin Waley, 19 year old Salt Lake City girl, was found guilty late today of aiding her husband and William Mahan, fugitive, of kidnapping 9 year old George Weyerhaeuser, Tacoma timber fortune heir.

With the same startling speed that characterized the trial, a jury of 10 men and two women found her guilty in Federal Court at 4:30 P. M.

SHE SHOWS NO EMOTION
She showed no emotion when the foreman of the jury read the verdict which undoubtedly will carry a long prison sentence.

She was found guilty on both counts of transportation of a kidnaped person, and conspiracy to transport a kidnaped person from state to state.

TIME IS SET
White haired Federal Judge E. E. Cushman gave the defense three days in which to file an appeal and he would pass sentence on the defendant at 10 A. M. Wednesday, July 17.

Maximum penalty facing Mrs. Waley is life. Her husband Har- mon Waley Mahan, who with fugitive William Mahan were the ringleaders in the abduction May 31 of the timber heir, was sen- tenced to 45 years at McNeil Fed- eral prison.

BURST INTO TEARS
She burst into tears at com- pletion of the defense case late Friday when her chief counsel, John P. Dore, ex-mayor of Se-attle, did not call him as a wit-ness. He sat for several hours in the prisoner's cage in the United States Court building.

Oil Man Will Stay In South
Despite Threats

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—UP—Eric P. Haliburton, Duncan Okla., oil millionaire, will defy death threats to himself and his five children and continue to maintain his residence in Los Angeles. Wil- shire police said today.

Haliburton for a time considered removal of his family, but today they still occupied the summer residence at 19 Berkeley Square, watched over by police and armed private guards.

Haliburton reported having re- ceived threats by telephone and mail from "cranks and Commun- ists," as a result of a recent state- ment that he did not believe men from relief rolls would make good employees.

"Lie Detector"
Gets Confession
In Attack Cases

BERKELEY, July 13.—UP—Police reported today that Edward Lan- deth, 30, of Berkeley broke down under tests made by a lie detector and confessed attacking a 12-year old Berkeley girl.

Questioning the man was con- tinued relative to other recent at- tacks on East Bay girls.

IN MUDDLE

SACRAMENTO, July 13.—UP—A special session of Cali- fornia's Legislature within the next six months appeared as- sured tonight in the light of recent financial developments.

Rather than having a balanced budget when it adjourned after a record-breaking session, the Leg- islature apparently left the State still dipping in the red and even Administration leaders are begin- ning to take the position that more revenue will be necessary if the State is to continue existing governmental activities.

TAX PROGRAM SHORT
Approval of the $376,000,000 budget and a new tax program first was questioned by State Con- troller Ray L. Baker, who claimed it was at least $20,000,000 short of the amount necessary to fi- nance listed expenditures.

Harried Administration officials looked to their director of finance, A. E. Stockburger, to refute Baker's statements. After a long study of the proposed expendi- tures for the biennium, Stock- burger said the estimated revenues would be adequate.

SHRINKING INCOME
More recently, however, the di- rector revised his estimates and admitted the prospective income may shrink by $24,455,473, or at most $15,000,000 more than Riley's estimate of the shortage.

In addition to the assertedly over-enthusiastic estimates of the legislators, several other distur- bing factors must be considered in determining the State's financial condition.

YEAR OF RELIEF
In the first place, the Legis- lature provided unemployment re- lief.

Ranch Woman
Surrenders In Murder Of Mate

VACAVILLE, July 13.—Declaring she had shot and killed her hus- band, Fernand Camas, 43, at their ranch home in isolated Mix Canyon seven miles northwest of here, Mrs. Frances Camas, 43, surrendered to authorities here today.

Mrs. Camas said the shooting oc- curred when she discovered Camas attempting to assault her 11-year- old daughter by a previous mar- riage.

Upon the advice of a friend, Sin- clair M. Dobbins, Vacaville attor- ney, Mrs. Camas refused to divulge full details of the shooting.

Sheriff's deputies who went to the Camas home, reported he had been shot in the chest, presumably with a .410-gauge shotgun found at the house.

Extortion
Note Sender
Is Trapped

PLACERVILLE, July 13.—UP—Trapped as he attempted to take a dummy package from a mail box, E. E. Higgins, 25, was ar- rested by police tonight, charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from A. H. Buckner, wealthy rancher, under threat of bodily harm.

The extortion letter, in brief Al- torney Henry S. Lyon said, de- manded the money he in five, ten and 25 dollar bills. "This is a case of life and death," the note said. "My men will leave this in your mail box and watch until they get the money. So you bet- ter watch your step or you'll get yours." The note was signed "The Boss."

Inspector Harvey Blackwell and Captain E. A. Brewster of the State Highway Patrol and Sheriff George Smith of Eldorado county hid near the mail box tonight and captured young Higgins as he at- tempted to take a dummy pack- age from the mail box.

Head Of U. S. Bar
Sounds Warning

LONG BEACH, July 13.—UP—A new form of government may be set up unless popular respect for the law is increased, Scott M. Loftin, president of the American Bar Association, warned in a speech tonight before the Long Beach Bar Association.

Urging lawyers to mix more freely in the affairs of the day, the Jacksonville, Fla., attorney, called for stricter law enforce- ment and soundly upbraided un- ethical practitioners.

Chief And Three
Officers Sued
For Raid Arrest

MARTINEZ, July 13.—Charging malicious prosecution, Andres Bar- tulovich, 2512 Main avenue, Rich- mond, victim last July 29 of anti- Communist U. S. raid, today filed suit here against Police Chief L. E. Jones and three Richmond officers, asking damages of $10,000.

Bartulovich, who is also suing the city in a second suit for $25,000 for damage to his home by raiders, claims that the chief, A. J. Con- ley, E. P. Phillips and T. D. Floyd ar- rested him after the raid without cause and held him four days, when he finally obtained his liberty on bond of $250. He declares that subse- quently a charge of vagrancy was filed against him but he has never been tried.

Police, he claims, told him it was none of his business when he asked why he was being arrested.

He declares police had no war- rant for his arrest.

Bartulovich asks $5,000 for his mil- itation and inconvenience caused him and $10,000 as general dam- ages.

He attributes damage to his home to rioters and holds the city re- sponsible. The council denied a claim he made for reimbursement.

BURBANK, July 13.—Laura In- galls marked time today in plans for a projected return-trip non-stop flight to New York. Fully rested af- ter her uninterrupted 18-hour jour- ney from the East Thursday, the aviatrix indicated it would be sev- eral days before she went in the air. 173 DEATHS
REPORTED IN
HEAT WAVES

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
This nation counted 173 deaths Saturday as summer's worst heat took its toll in drownings, floods and suffoca- tions. Kefauver was promised for Sunday in most sections of the country.

Weather forecasters said that with the exception of the far northwest the population would en- joy temperatures in the high 70's and low 80's.

RAIN EXPECTED
Rain was expected in the south and perhaps along the Atlantic coast. Washington, Oregon, Mon- tana and Idaho were threatened with a new stage of the death- dealing heat, however, with tem- peratures soaring above 100 de- grees.

Drownings took 93 lives as mil- lions fled to lakes, rivers and beaches. Twenty-three persons drowned in Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky alone. New England and Pennsylvania reported 29 drownings.

BOLTS KILL TWO
Lightning accompanying tropi- cal rains killed two persons in Minnesota.

Floods added to the suffering. Seven persons, six in one family, perished as creeks broke their banks in Colorado. Nine died in Eastern Pennsylvania floods.

In the Middle West farmers waded in their fields at night to escape the searing sun and save their homes.

HIGH TEMPERATURES
In Washington, with a tempera- ture of 96, Congressman Percy Gansaway, tried an egg on the capitol steps.

Temperatures were mostly in the 90's Saturday, although Phoenix, Ariz., reported 103, Fresno, Calif., 104, and Oklahoma City, 112.

Chicago, 104, and Salt Lake City each had 109. New York and Chicago shared readings of 92.

Talbot Says
Wife Bigamist
In Court Suit

REDWOOD CITY, July 13.—Wil- liam C. Talbot, millionaire lum- berman, today asked a Superior Court to annul his marriage to Josephine E. Talbot on the ground that Mrs. Talbot is a bigamist.

Talbot claimed his attractive young wife was not separated leg- ally from Herchel Carl Ketch- um, whom she married in Honolu- lu, at the time he married her in Tahiti on December 6, 1928.

Talbot said his wife did not com- ply with the California one-year residence law.

Talbot's charge answered Mrs. Talbot's divorce suit. Their mar- riage had become stormy during an airplane trip in South America.

G-Men Join In
Widening Search
For Lang Killer

CHICAGO, July 13.—UP—Gov- ernment agents joined tonight in a widening search for the killers of Edwin Lang, a resource young grocery clerk whose murder led investigators into a marabraz of sex crazed women, narcotic smuggling and Chinatown.

The actual killers have been identified to police as Mrs. Ever- lyn Smith and her Oriental hus- band, Harry and June, a faded in- come of burlesque shows and a Chinese laundryman.

Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, the jeal- ous mother-in-law, confessed that she contracted with the Smiths to kill Lang for $500. She did not want him to marry pretty Josephine McKinley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bark, head of the Federal narcotic forces in the Chicago area, told the United Press that the capture of the Smith woman and her husband may lead to an expose of a nar- cotic syndicate harboring in illicit drugs with murder as a sideline.

"It was the most beautiful and impressive sight I have ever wit- nessed," declared George F. Imbach in speaking of the ceremonies in connection with the formation of a Jun- ior Veterans of Foreign Wars or- ganization at Daly City, last Friday evening.

There were 25 youths who took the oath of allegiance to the flag and over 400 people in attendance to witness the rites, among them the mayor of the city and other digni- taries.

Imbach, who is senior Vice-Com- mander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of California, spoke in his official capacity, his patriotic utterances being well re- ceived.

IS GROWING
IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 13.—UP—A poll of the House ways and means committee showed tonight that a majority of the 25 members are opposed to the President's tax-the-rich program insofar as it calls for a graduated corporation tax.

At least 14 members of the committee indicated they would fight for a stiff corporate tax, in view of the danger of such new taxes on industrial recovery and urged that the government cut expendi- tures by $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 instead of taxing the rich.

Fishing Trip Called Off By
Meanest Thief

D. K. Armstrong of 1935 Bar- rett avenue, will have a swell vaca- tion trip, starting today—but he won't enjoy any fishing.

Last night Armstrong was load- ing his automobile with all the impedimenta one usually carries along to make a vacation trip a success. He placed his fishing creel, containing his fishing in- come, tackle, lines and what- have-you and a cloth bag with bathing suits, clothes and other articles, on the sidewalk near his car while he went into the house for another load.

Returning a few seconds later, Armstrong discovered that some- one had picked up the creel and the bag and had gone on their way, rejoicing or something.

Armstrong called the police. The missing articles are valued at $12.

Although officials declined to comment on reports of disension, an authoritative source said priv- ately that friction between Hoover and Purvis was known to exist.

BRIDGES HELD COMMUNIST IN I. L. A. REPORT

NEW YORK, July 13—UP—Communist organization of Pacific Coast longshoremen with contacts in Hawaii and the Orient was charged today at the closing session of the International Longshoremen's Association convention.

Simultaneously with a secret report on alleged Communist activities came a split in the western division which had been dominated by Harry Bridges of San Francisco, acknowledged leader of an unsuccessful attempt to oust President P. Ryan. Ryan was re-elected earlier in the convention before negotiations which Bridges brought to a halt the administration were reported out of committee.

BRIDGES SCORED
The report, which charged Bridges with being a leader in the Communist activities, was attacked by him as a "tissue of lies." It was written, he countered, by Paul Scharrenger, Pacific Coast representative of the International Seamen's Union, whose expulsion from the I. L. A. Bridges was unsuccessful in obtaining at the convention here.

The report was captioned "Communists in maritime activities" and went into detail about individuals allegedly involved. Reorganization it said, placed all Pacific coast states, Nevada, Arizona, Utah and Idaho under a new secretariat.

NAME LEAKED

The secretariat was given jurisdiction, the report continued, under "direct control of the following central executive committee men of the Communist party, U. S. A., who direct the policy from Communist party headquarters in New York: "Bert Browder, political phase; Jack Stachel, trade union phase. "Appointments on the Pacific coast secretariat are: S. M. Darcy, San Francisco, executive secretary; S. Sparks, Seattle, assistant executive secretary.

TRANSMISSION LINKS

"Oregon—Washington—Harry Jackson (real name Glickson), D. L. Saunders, Lowell Wakefield, Al Bristol, W. Lundberg and liaison officers—McFarland, Roy Brown and Walter Stack."

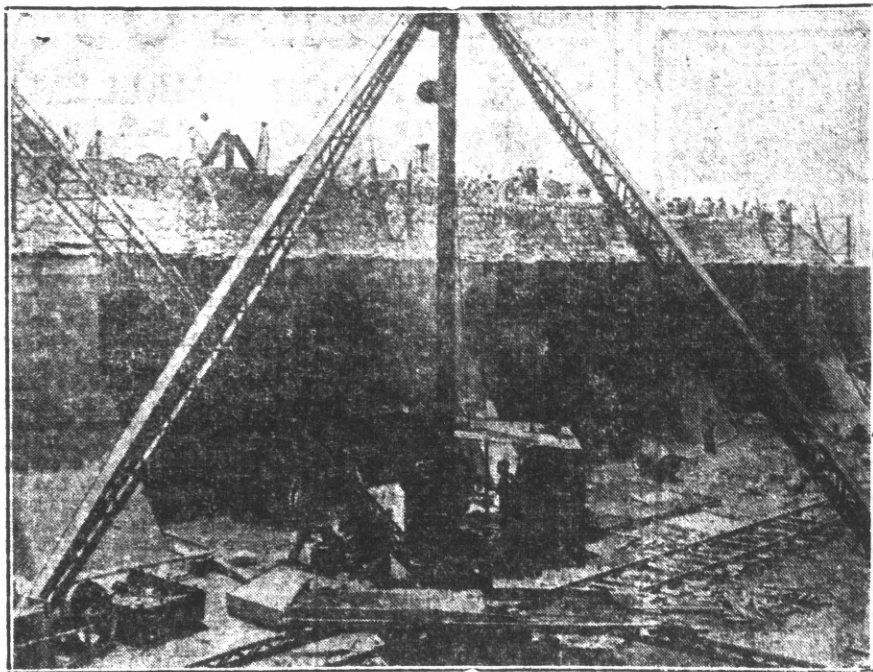

"Transmission links" given in the report named:

Bayles of Bails, in charge at Salt Lake City; Fred Larson, sectional organizer at Salt Lake City; a man by the name of Dolson (whose Chinese name is Doon Ping and not to be confused with an American-Chinese by the same name) is the liaison between the United States and China and transmits messages in the links of religious books brought to his Presbyterian missions outside Hankow and Canton; a Japanese priest named Takakashi of Honolulu makes the contact for Hawaii, using a Japanese fisherman named Tachibana at San Pedro, Calif., as a messenger.

The "brains" for the west coast Communists, the report alleged were Sam Darcy, S. Sparks, Harry Jackson, Harry Bridges, Harry Lundberg, Dave L. Saunders and Elmer Hanoff.

BEAUTIFUL HILLTOP HOME NEAR COMPLETION

The hilltop home of the Greens, now under construction by contractor Elmer Freathy, is nearing completion, and when finished will be the finest in the district. The grounds, which will cover an entire block, are now being improved by the building of a retaining wall of native stone.

The house contains all the latest wrinkles in electrical appliances and in the decorator's art. The ceiling of the living room is set off by hand carved timbers and the house has five fireplaces. The grounds are to be landscaped and will contain a swimming pool and tennis courts. The roof is of the modern "thatched" type. With homes like this dotting the landscape, our little city will become quite "snooty," may be.

Wrecked Plane Is Stripped By Curious Crowds

TULSA, Okla., July 13—Because souvenir hunters had carried away so many parts of a plane in which Everett Wagner was killed near Olton Thursday, A. M. Alcorn said today he was unable to determine what caused the plane to make a forced landing.

Nearly every part that could be taken from the wrecked machine was gone by the time Alcorn, Department of Commerce Inspector, arrived on the scene.

Wagner, 29-year-old civil engineer of Tulsa, apparently was trying to make a forced landing in an oil field when his plane struck a pipeline, caught fire and burned.

Wagner was killed.

Sabotage May Be Cause Of Auto Accident

VIENNA, July 12—UP—Highly volatile political repercussions may follow, if it is proved that sabotage was responsible for the automobile accident which slightly injured Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and killed his wife, responsible quarters said tonight.

With this in mind both semi-military and armed forces were alert tonight but there was no indication of trouble. Also it was pointed out that Schuschnigg's bitterest enemies, the Nazis and the Socialists, have made no untoward move in recent weeks. If sabotage were involved, the authorities were inclined to attribute it to a fanatic who probably had no thought of political murder.

States marshal's office and expected to corroborate her story that she was but a pawn under the death threat of the fugitive Mahan.

But Dore insisted all be her story—and last one of the few times he has not defied in major criminal trial.

MAY BE HANGED
Thus the crime career of the only the arrest of Mahan and a half after they aided Mahan in kidnapping the boy and holding him for $200,000 ransom.

On the arrest of Mahan and conviction remained for eight federal men to clear up the Northwest's most sensational kidnapping. He has been reported seen in several cities of the Northwest and in the South. He eluded Butte, Mont. police in June.

The jury had received the case at 10:45 A. M. today after defense and government attorneys made powerful emotional appeals to the jury.

PLEA OF MERCY
The defense plea was for "mercy" rather than "justice." Defense counsel turned the girl a dupe of her husband.

United States Attorney J. Charles Dennis emphasized ill-treatment of the Weverhause boy, during his eight days of captivity. He urged the jury not to rely on sympathy, but called on it to stamp out kidnapping.

FEW PRESENT
Only a handful of spectators were in the court room when the verdict was announced.

Mrs. Waley was taken back to jail immediately to await sentence Wednesday.

PARENTS ARE BITTER
SALT LAKE CITY, July 13—UP—Bitter resentment at the conviction of their daughter, Margaret, on charges of participation in the Weverhause kidnapping was expressed here tonight by her aged father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Thulin.

Tacoma Strike Zone Is Quiet After Rioting

TACOMA, Wash., July 13—UP—The Tacoma lumber strike situation was quiet today following a night of terror, which started with riots and ended with bombings.

Three hundred Washington National Guardsmen rested at Camp Murray, near here, today after suppressing five hours of rioting in the downtown district, during which bombs were cracked, rioters picked up by bayonets, and attacks laid down continuously throughout the shopping district, affecting many innocent bystanders.

Twenty-five persons were arrested and all but one released.

The rioting quieted down about 9 P. M. and Guardsmen returned to their base, but four bombings were reported during the night. All four of the bombings were of homes of non-union mill workers.

Mills were closed today, having completed their scheduled weekly 40 hours of operation Friday, and it was believed there would be little disturbance until Monday morning when the mills reopen.

Hugh Johnson Praises, Hits New Deal Acts

UNIVERSITY, Va., July 13—General Hugh Johnson former NRA chief last night gave New Deal opponents a verbal whacking but at the same time offered some pointed criticism of the Administration he defended.

The General said "no amount of Government spending can make an appreciable contribution to a permanent solution of unemployment or to any revival of business" and asserted the "Administration should supplement it with an effort to create opportunity for small business and with definite steps to balance the budget."

"It makes me sick to hear a lot of people who in no crisis at any time ever did anything but talk, now standing sneering at the work of other men's hands in the relief of suffering millions," he said in reference to New Deal critics.

"I am aware that until the threat of monetary inflation is absolutely abolished there can be no sound recovery. I hope as eagerly as any for an end to experimentation."

FORMER EDITOR DIES
WALLINGFORD, Vt., July 13—Mrs. Ella Wilkinson Peattie, one time literary editor of the Chicago Tribune, died last night.

NINE FAMILIES RETURN FROM ALASKA COLONY

SEATTLE, Wash., June 13—UP—"We are not farmers, know nothing of farming and have no interest in farming!"

In a single sentence, nine Michigan and Wisconsin families summoned up today why they failed to become new pioneers in the Alaskan valley colonization experiment north of Anchorage, Alaska.

They returned to Seattle today on the motorship North Star. There were 35 persons in the group, most with 90 transient workers, recruited from California CCC camps.

They will be glad to return to their old homes in the midwest, with the hope relief agencies can care for them better than the made out in the Matanuska. They quit job supplying supplies on Alaska were off relief rolls. Some of the returning group hoped to get jobs under the administration work-relief program.

D. A. Mitchell, L. Lewis, O. Leonard, W. Dawson—and other holders of returning families—all complained that mis-direction was one of the real sources of trouble in the Matanuska.

"Cooks were put to work digging wells," they said. "Satanism was set as cooks. Mechanics were set to work building ten platforms."

With no interest in farming they could not get along in the colony which is a farming project with 40-acre land allotments and $300 loans to each family. All agree Alaska climate was superb during their stay since mid-April, but as the group left, they were as big as life in the exaggeration.

The group will leave by train tonight for the midwest.

THRILLING AND DRAMATIC IS FOX PROGRAM

The thousands who have read Alice Tisdale Hobart's best selling novel will see a faithful and thrilling adaptation of "Oil for the Lamps of China" on the Fox theater screen today. Those who had not read the story will be treated to one of the most absorbing and tensely dramatic feature photoplays they have ever witnessed.

The picture, made for Cosmopolitan Productions by Warner Brothers, invades forbidden frontiers to bring the amazing and thrilling story of a courageous young American and his "picture bride" fighting in a background of centuries of darkness, China, the somnolent but tricky and intriguing giant of the Far East, is the locale of the story. Essentially, "Oil for the Lamps of China" deals with the fight of a woman, for the honor and integrity of her husband, against not only the barriers of a foreign civilization but also against the politics and undercurrents of her own country.

Pat O'Brien and Josephine Hutchinson are the couple concerned, and their work in the picture is said to be little short of inspired. Jean Muir, Lyle Talbot and Arthur Byron are members of a large supporting cast.

Walt Disney's latest Silly Symphony, "The Golden Touch" is featured on the program of short subjects.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, July 13.—UP—The most extensive wardrobe in Hollywood is worth $25,000, and it's all out of date.

Lucien Littlefield, actor, owns it. He gathered it carefully during the many years of his acting career—hundreds of plug hats of every generation; gaiters of the Victorian period; coats dating from Hannibal to the Prince of Wales; neckties from mid-Jurassic to the present; trousers skin-tight or Oxford bags.

He keeps all the costumes in a special room in his Hollywood home, together with hundreds of wigs, toupees and a mass of makeup material that would put a studio department to shame.

"No one can enter my makeup room," Littlefield declared. "I have racks in the room on which I leave entire costumes, with appropriate makeup stands beside them. Then, if three weeks after completing a role, I am called for retakes, I refer to my filing system, find out which costume and makeup to hop into and I'm ready. I always make up and costume myself and keep the wardrobe."

Two costume companies and a museum have offered Littlefield $25,000 for his collection, but he declares he will never part with it until the day he retires from stage and screen.

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant

Either because of stomach disturbances, food fermentation, or the wearing of false teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath). No wonder others consider them a nuisance. But now Science has found that the regular use of Listerine will often overcome offensive mouth odors due to the fermentation of tiny bits of food on teeth, tongue, or dental plate surfaces.

This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halts fermentation and putrefaction, a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves.

Try using Listerine every two or three days. See how much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., St. Louis, Mo.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Propponents of the Patman "greenback" bonus bill already are laying plans for a "knock-down-and-draw-out" fight at the American Legion convention in St. Louis in late September. Representative Wright Patman, author of the measure, declares he will openly charge that National Commander Frank Belgrano and John Thomas Taylor, the Legion's Washington lobbyist, were responsible for the defeat of bonus legislation this session.

Intimation that the Biological Survey may have been hunting this year is causing a considerable flurry in sport circles. Petitions bearing the signatures of nearly a million people have been received by the Senate urging a closed season.

"Widows and orphans are still in need of special attention by the Federal Communications Commission during its investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Alleged 'Widows' who sent the Commission letters protesting against the probe are being turned over to a special staff of investigators for a complete check of their origin.

Southern California admirers have tossed Senator Bill Borah's hat into the presidential ring. A Los Angeles Borah-for-President Club has been organized and his recent radio address, "The Constitution," is being widely distributed.

CCC recruiting drive for an additional 600,000 enrollees is not coming up to expectations. As a result age and other admission requirements are being liberalized. Officials report that the prospect of possible jobs on Work-Relief and the recently launched National Youth Administration are causing thousands of eligible youths to hold back from joining the "free army."

The Railroad Brotherhoods have not abandoned hope to force through a new pension act this session of Congress. The law held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, last Spring, was jammed through the 1934 Congress in the final hours of the session.

The Anti-Long Women's Committee of Louisiana uses letter-heads on which are printed a heavy border of black. Preliminary Government figures fix corporation dividends for the first half of the current year at $1,400,000,000. This is slightly less than 3 per cent above the total for the same period in 1934, and 13 per cent better than in 1933.

The street car industry is joining the better-business trend in a big way. In the past six months it has placed orders for $15,000,000 for the whole of 1934. Manufacturers of anti-conditioning appliances report sales even better than expectations. This year's orders should top the 1934 volume by at least 25 per cent.

When Congress will adjourn is anybody's guess. Privately, leaders are making no prognostications. Their hope is that if the House disposes of a tax bill by August 1 the Senate can conclude action by September 1, and the legislative mill can be brought to a close a week or so later.

One of the first to congratulate utility-baiting Rush Holt after his maiden speech in the Senate was utility-voting Jennings Randolph.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, July 13.—Motorists visiting New York will receive special consideration from the police department. . . Commissioner Valentine has ordered all cops to be courteous, helpful and friendly, particularly as regards minor traffic violations. . . This doesn't mean that when you crash into a blue-coat you'll receive a bouquet of roses as appreciation. . . Jack Dempsey, having established himself as one of the successful restaurateurs of the town, is going to open a supper room in a separate corner of his tavern opposite Madison Square Garden. . . A place where the boys and girls can argue about the fights after they're all over. . . Joscha Heifetz, world-famous violinist, will fly East from his California summer home to appear as soloist with the Philharmonic orchestra at the Lewisohn stadium on the nights of August 5th and 6th. . . Heifetz is now having his first vacation in two years but a fiddler has to keep in practice. . . On a dull day, the line of coachmen stand outside the Plaza in front of Central Park, getting no business and expecting no business. . . Like the horses in front of them, the top-hat hansom veterans just stand and wait.

INNOCENT—The wife of a friend of mine recently gave birth to a baby son, much to everyone's surprise. When she had returned home from the hospital, however, her first child, who is a little girl of two, seemed rather pained of all the attention that the newborn was receiving.

Whatever the reason, when playing in Central Park or walking on the street the little girl now stops strangers whom she meets and confides innocently: "I have a new baby brother and it stinks."

FRIBBLES—Dick Commissioner John McKenzie, who built the needed Lowfoot pier for the Normandie and Queen Mary, never received an invitation to any of the gorgeous fetes which commemorated the first arrival of the giant French liner. . . Belle Baker, stage comedienne, has just returned from an English visit with the announcement that she's going to marry Charles Lamborn, London banker. . . Songs across the sea. . . The Mayor's complaint bureau, which handles grievances of relief clients and is trying to run down chiselers, is housed in room 909, Municipal Building, and on the door is the legend, "Board of Examining Plumbbers." . . So that's how the political secrets leak out.

MONASTIC—There were virtually no social festivities in celebration of John D. Rockefeller's ninety-sixth birthday last night, but that's not an unusual procedure for the eminent financier. Although, perhaps the richest man in the world, Rockefeller has never come in for the elaborate functions which usually mark the private lives of most wealthy men.

Rockefeller almost detests such things, in fact. He never gave New York society anything to talk about in the line of balls and parties. Far from holding the sumptuous fetes his purse would have allowed.

CHAPTER XX
VIRGINIA left Lavonne at the Thornton offices, and returned to the street alone. It was almost ten o'clock, and 42nd Street was alive with people. Taking a deep breath, Virginia plunged into the crowd.

Out of the ten letters Mahlon Tregg had given her, she got two interviews during the day. But she was given no definite hope of a job.

She was weary from walking when she finally returned to the hotel. But she was not discouraged. She had found something about New York which even New Yorkers probably did not notice. That was innate kindness. Beneath the sophistication and boredom, the hurry and worry she had found it everywhere.

There had been no curt dismissals or impatient discourtesies. The girls at the reception desks had all been friendly. Smart and polished, but quick as a flash in their sincere desire to help another girl along.

And were there so many people to like—the policemen who gave directions so freely and amiably, and that good-natured guard on the subway who had discovered that it was her first ride underground and had been eager to be helpful. When she had changed trains he had given her explicit instructions and called "Lots of good luck!" after her.

It was really funny how everyone seemed to know she was an inexperienced stranger; wonderful how everyone tried to help her. She poured out her experiences to Lavonne when the latter came in. "I almost wish I hadn't got a job right away," Lavonne commented. "You're sure seen a lot of this place."

"We'll both see a lot more this week-end," Virginia declared. "I'll meet you Saturday noon when you finish work, and we'll go places."

Virgin Islands Administration Faces Shake-Up

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A shake-up by President Roosevelt of the administration of the Virgin Islands was hinted today.

Reports were current that administration might be transferred from the Interior to the Navy or some other department and that a new governor would be named.

The President and other officials were silent. They declined to discuss any phase of the dispute over the rule of the present governor—Paul M. Pearson—which raged to a climax in an angry clash between Secretary Ickes and Senator Tydings (D-Md.).

Rumors named C. William Freeman of California as a possible successor to Pearson.

TWO-TIME LOVE
by Nelly Graf

Virginia Bret, small-town private secretary, becomes engaged to her boss's son, Bruce Tregg. But Celeste Dell, an alluring divorcee, steals him away from her and tricks him into marriage. When Virginia's mother suddenly dies, she and her sister Lavonne sell their home and go to New York, where they hope to find jobs. They go first to see Paul Thornton, young head of a poster company, who had once told Virginia he could make an opening for her. He is out of town, but two members of his staff, Dixie Mayne and Kirk Donnelly, size Lavonne up as an excellent poster model, and hire her.

SO SATURDAY afternoon, they ate their lunch on the 86th floor of the Empire State Building, awed by the grandeur of New York as seen from the skies. Later, they caught their breath again as they looked at the view from the 102nd floor.

Then they took the subway to South Ferry for a ferry trip to Staten Island. Virginia loved the swishing sound of the water—loved the little tugs scurrying in all directions.

"Dixie says Paul Thornton will be back Monday," Lavonne said, "and she thinks you ought to come in and see him right away."

Virginia did not reply. She was watching the seagulls in the wake of the ferryboat—following, following, always following like one's thoughts. Her mother, Bruce.

"What are you dreaming about, Virginia?" Lavonne asked. "I said go to Radio City tonight." She said, "although I wouldn't be surprised if Kirk Donnelly phones Lavonne for a date."

"Why Lavonne?" Virginia was genuinely surprised. You didn't tell me.

LIQUOR, PHILANTHROPIST

Again Colonel Jacob Rupprecht receives prominent position in the daily press. The colonel, as head of the U. S. Brewers Association, which represents about three-fifths of the country's brewing industry, feels, of course, that his statements should be greeted with absolute faith in their accuracy, so when he declares that "beer has played a fundamental part in the progress toward business recovery," it is just too bad to raise a questioning eyebrow. Still, there are certain facts which should be noted, particularly as the colonel voices the philanthropic intention of the brewers to "double our output and its consumption as a further aid toward national prosperity."

One item of the Brewers Association report which Colonel Rupprecht discussed with the press, states that the hotel and restaurant business has picked up 40 per cent. Yet, on December 8, the hotel men of Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma met in annual session and declared that repeat has not helped the hotels as expected. At that time one of the speakers was quoted by the press as declaring that "those who thought liquor would be a curative have been disappointed. In no instance has it brought back prosperity."

The colonel speaks also of the brewers as having "regenerated" other business through industry linked to the beer trade. Perhaps it is something of a damper on such enthusiasm to mention the fact that relief rolls carry thousands more than a year ago, but there is no doubt about the damper on the enthusiasm of those who are taxed for relief projects or are urged to give to local relief work when they read of the number of cases in city after city where "taverns" in the vicinity of relief stations are reaping golden harvests by trading supplies for liquor. There is at least no question about the "taverns" being rejuvenated!

However, perhaps the gentleman was too modest to mention the chief ones to profit by repeal, or to would have spoken of the nation's prosperity. That the liquor trade has prospered may be readily inferred from a recent press story concerning a certain distilling corporation which has given its employees "about $1,000,000 in group life insurance," each employee receiving group insurance amounting to the equivalent of a year's salary, with a minimum of $1,000 and a maximum of $7,000. The employees also receive a cash bonus, depending upon the length of service.

Yes, brewers and distillers may speak truthfully of "prosperity" for themselves, at least. But whence comes that prosperity? And what are its consequences to the consumer?

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read today on the subject "Sacrifice."

The Golden Text will be "Whatsoever ye do, do it to the glory of God" (1 Cor. 10: 31). Bible selections will include the following passage from Romans 12: 1, 6: "Know ye not, brethren, (for I speak to them that know the law,) how that the law hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth? But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held, that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "As a material, the created flesh is found to be a misconception of existence, the spiritual and divine Principle of man dwells upon him as man thought, and looks it to where the young child was, even to the birth of a new self, to the spiritual sense of being, and of what life includes" (p. 191).

Mouse or Rat Is Personally Clean, But Often Carries Diseases

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.
ANOTHER of the household pests is the mouse, or rat. He is not only an everlasting nuisance, but aside from the diseases he may carry, he gives the women members of the family the squealing jitters. The rat is blamed with carrying many diseases. Its bite is the cause of rat bite fever, and bubonic plague is carried by the fleas that infest the rat.

He is an omnivorous eater, eating everything around the house. No sack, bag or wooden box will keep him out. He has been accused of eating the ears, fingers and toes of babies and no doubt his heavy rat would do so, if pressed with hunger. They eat an enormous amount of common foods and destroy much more. They walk over and take bites from anything, contaminating everything with which they come in contact. Almost all methods have been used to destroy them, ever to burning down the house, but they usually escape that. A flood in my town years ago drowned many of them, but some swam to safety and soon were as numerous as ever. Cats and traps will catch some of them. Many rat poisons are used, but the dead rat is about as unpleasant as the live one and poisons may get into your food or be eaten by children or family pets.

Rat Personally Clean
All kinds of devices and plans have been used without success. In some districts regular rat killers have been employed. Poisonous gases will kill many, but the dead stay on the premises. The rat is personally clean. He is very particular not to have his feet dirty or tarnished. When I was a boy on the farm we took advantage of that fact and by foiling the rat runways, we often clear them all out in a few days and could remain free for some months.

The method was to catch four or five big rats in a trap. By pinning their heads down with a forked stick as one would a snake, we dabbed soft coal tar over the back, head, tails and feet, not enough to prevent their running around. Then they were released. They dove for their holes and runways. Of course, some of the tar rubbed off and the next rat coming along got some on his feet. It would not come off. In a few days all the rats would leave that building and we would see them no more for some time. Repeating the process often discouraged their return. That method does not solve the rat problem, however; it only transfers the seat of operation.

A Few Answers
ANSWERS TO QUERIES: W. J. O. suffers from sinusitis, which he describes as an influenza attack in 1919. Also, a prolapsed caecum and colon, which he attributes to the sinus trouble. Chronic sinusitis may be the cause of almost any intestinal trouble. In this case I should suspect a chronic appendicitis with adhesions. X-Ray may disclose the trouble.

Mary K. is overweight and complains of gas pains and distended abdomen, palpitation of the heart, a dull pain in lower left side of the abdomen and constipation. She wonders if she has colitis. She has intestinal indigestion, and some amount of colitis is almost sure to follow. A milk and banana diet for a short time would reduce the overweight. Thirty drops of dilute hydrochloric acid in a glass of water before meals may help the accumulation of gas. Enemas of baking soda should be helpful.

Miss M. F. M., fifty-eight years old, complains of high blood pressure and dizziness. It is difficult to give advice for a case of this kind without a better knowledge of the patient. The constipation should be overcome, partly by diet and partly by some medication containing bile salts. Most of these patients are suffering from gall bladder infections. Five or six drops of Tinct. Belladonnae three times a day may relieve the tension.

A Waffle Recipe
Make a waffle batter from two cups sifted and measured cake flour, two teaspoons combination baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt sifted together twice. Blend this dry mixture with three well beaten egg yolks that have been added to one cup milk. Beat until smooth and add four tablespoons melted butter or shortening and fold in three well beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Remove and brush with softened butter. Spread one half with jam and fold over. Sprinkle top half with powdered sugar and serve at once. This makes a good dessert to follow a cold meal.

"Uncrowned King of Monaco" Uncrowned

By TALBOT LAKE

THE great gambling house at Monte Carlo is broke—well, not broke exactly, but not making any money—and as a result the mysterious "uncrowned king of Monaco," Rene Leon, is out of control and has abdicated to the warmer port of Marseilles. The Casino stock is down to 780 francs, dividends have dropped from 165 per cent to nothing, and croquetiers who formerly got $14 a week are now on the dole. Little Monaco is far in the red, and it isn't roulette red, either. Strange as it may sound, all this grief appears to have been caused by the introduction of sound business methods in the running of the Casino. In older, happier times the gambling concession was run by the Blancs, Francois and Camille—father and son. Things were easy-going, and all employees were satisfied. Politicians abounded in the melon-balls. Profits were large. In the early 1920's, however, a majority of the Casino stock was acquired by Sir Basil Zaharoff, Europe's bizarre munitions maker, and he eased out the Blancs, and placed M. Leon in the seat of power. Immediately things changed. The gambling place was run on a cost analysis basis, a number of veteran employees were dismissed—to the anger of the natives—and some new decorations of a garish sort seemed to change the atmosphere of the place.

A new new "king" was in trouble several times with riots and rising complaints from indignant stockholders. In January at the National Assembly Mayor Berasconi accused M. Leon of having converted the Casino into a "cheap gambling joint."

Under such a barrage of disfavor it was inevitable that he would have to go, and despite another year to his contract, M. Leon has left the scene of his embarrassment to return to his former banking business.

NEW GIRDLES

At the top, a belt of square braided wool cord has loop ends with a separate braided cord finished in metal tips to hold it together. There is a matching neck cord. The lower figure wears another version of the idea, in a knit cord braided belt with embossed metal rings and a bonnet clasp; this uses long silk tassels as ornament.

Reducing Too Rapidly Lets Lines Remain

Guide to Charm

By JACQUELINE HUNT

A LETTER from a reader in this morning's mail reminds me that there is one type of wrinkle that we did not mention in our recent discussion of lines and wrinkles. These are lines and sagging tissues that result from too rapid weight reduction without proper massage and exercise to counteract the effects.

When the amount of food eaten has been limited to the minimum number of calories essential to maintain health, the body must call upon the layers of fat stored beneath the skin and among the organs of the body to make up the deficiency.

When you reduce too rapidly, as often happens when following a fad diet, this store of fat is broken down immediately and burned to carry on the functions of the body. There is no time for the skin and tissues to tighten and adjust themselves normally, so they fall into flabby lines and folds as the supporting layer of fat disappears.

If you are overweight and have planned a strict diet that will reduce you as rapidly as possible, let me beg you to modify your plans.

Reduce slowly, following a well-balanced diet, and combine the diet with outdoor activities and exercises. The exercises are important, as you must use all of the muscles that are not used in ordinary sports.

Neck exercises, facial exercises and massage are especially essential if you want to get through your reducing routine without a devastating effect on your looks.

If you have already started a diet with a resulting rapid loss of weight and lines, then you had better forget all about it for a week or two and make a new attempt, this time with a more intelligently planned diet and exercise routine.

Give your skin special care while you are reducing. If possible, massage with a good lubricating cream twice daily to keep the skin soft and pliable and to replace as far as possible the natural oils that may not be so plentiful while your body is reducing.

The massage, while it firms and tightens the muscles, will also help to reduce the face by improving the circulation. Massage and slap the under chin area with extra vigor to keep the area firm. As soon as your weight is again normal, include whole milk, a small amount of butter and some other fatty foods in your diet. You don't want your skin dry and starved at any time.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "My skin is smooth and fairly clear, but it is so pale and colorless that I look ill most of the time. My tips are also colorless. I have dark blue eyes and dark brown hair, so you see a very white skin is not natural to me. I do not like to use cosmetics, since they stand out so badly on my skin. Is there some way that I could improve my color naturally?"—Dottie.

Do you feel well? If it is possible, it would be wise to have a thorough physical examination. You may need a simple tonic or food that is more rich in iron and minerals to pep you up and give you a better color. Spinach and other greens, liver and red meats are iron-rich foods. Try to get out of doors more and give the sun a chance to put more color into your cheeks. Your skin, judging from the color of your hair and eyes, should be the type that tans beautifully. Once your skin seems more alive, you can use a small amount of carefully blended rouge, the light or slightly orange-red shades. Use a light rachel powder with some pink in it to flatter your skin.

QUESTION: "I have had my hair dyed and retouched frequently for more than a year. Now I want to get a permanent. Do you think a wave would be successful over dyed hair?"—Mrs. Artie A.

The results of the permanent will depend on the type of hair dye used and on the experience and skill of the operator who gives the wave. Discuss the matter with the operator, telling what kind of dye was used, when you had your latest application, and so on. Ask for one or two test curls. If they take well, then you can have your entire head done. Dyed hair usually requires more care for a few weeks. Have oil shampoos and brush faithfully.

Negligee, Did You Say?

Newest of Bathing Suits Are Featured In Cottons

By IRENE VAIL

New York—When you put to sea this summer see to it that you are in cottons. Some of the very swankiest bathing suits of the year are made of them, and what one wears underneath is nobody's business. Still, it's well to know that it should be wool—also that many cotton suits are jersey lined.

There are swim suits for those who must have them, but if one's interest in swimming is divided, then by all means dress up a little for the beach. The shops will show you how. You may choose anything from chills to silk and in plain or printed fabrics, but you'll not find anything smarter than cotton. The chances are you will find nothing niftier than paid gingham.

If your vacation plans call for roughing it, remember that it calls for rough clothes. While a dude ranch vacation isn't exactly roughing it, to all intents and purposes it indicates rough, active sports types. One of the newest is a denim Mexican costume, red cowpuncher handkerchief and hat. It's a jacket and skirt with two rows of contrasting stitching at the seams. This brings to mind the idea that the hand-stitched glove with a sort of bathing thread on the water side has been the inspiration for sports clothes, the swimsuits which are treated in the same rather casual, but very chic manner. The stitching is always in contrast to the dress.

If sailing is on your vacation schedule you will like slacks with a midgy, to which a hood is attached. The hood idea is at the moment being played to a finish from evening wraps to sports togs.

Vacationists and smart country folk dote on cottons, and wear them morning, noon and night. Some of the very nicest parties are fairly bristling with starched cottons, or cottons that behave as though starched. Since a goodly number of these party-going frocks are made over taffeta it's easy enough to see how they get that smart stand-off look.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "Is it correct to say of a man who lacks charm and personality, 'he has no attraction whatsoever'? I question the fact that a man can be described as attractive. —Puzzled."

ANSWER: Your question does not involve a point of etiquette but since you addressed this department it is being answered here. You admit that a man may lack charm and personality; that he may not possess certain pleasing traits of personality that other men may possess. You are quibbling over a word. Anyone or anything which is pleasing is attractive.

QUESTION: "Is a girl in her late teens supposed to rise when being introduced to an older man?"—H. K.

ANSWER: A girl does not rise to greet a man unless she happens to be the hostess; or to greet the host or hostess, if she is a guest. She rises to greet a distinguished man or a really elderly person.

Cut three pineapple slices into halves and saute in the butter and sugar mixture until slightly brown. Trim fat from smoked ham and grind one pound of the lean meat with one-half pound lean fresh pork. Combine with one-half cup bread crumbs, pepper to season, two eggs, well beaten, and one-fourth cup milk. Spread the mixture in a loaf pan over the pineapple. Brown in bacon drippings until golden brown, cover, reduce the heat and cook twenty minutes, or until tender. Remove to a hot platter. Make a sauce by browning three tablespoons flour in the drippings, add two cups water gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt to season, four tablespoons sour cherry jam and four tablespoons chopped sweet pickles. Serve the sauce with the lamb chops with an additional teaspoon of jam as a garnish for each chop.

Melon balls cut from ripe cantaloupe, honeydew and watermelon make attractive appetizers or salads. For a delicious appetizer fill sherbet glasses with the melon balls. Beat one-fourth cup mint jelly with a fork until finely broken, add one-fourth cup ginger ale and stir until well blended. Pour over the melon and garnish with more finely chopped mint jelly. Just before serving, fill each glass with additional ginger ale.

Raspberry Charlotte
This dessert can be prepared early in the morning and served whenever you are ready for it. Dissolve one package raspberry gelatin in one and one-half cups warm water and add a pinch of salt. Chill until syrupy, then place the bowl in cracked ice and whip with a rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Fold in one cup cream whipped until stiff and

Girl Job Applicant Does Better When She Has a Following

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

THE applicant for a job—any job—is always faced with the faze: "Have you had any experience?" When the answer is in the negative the job usually goes to someone else. But how to get experience? Someone must take the raw recruit, or what is the system? To this handicap of being a novice is added another question side by side with the first. It is: "Have you a following?" When a job the young college girl who is being put through her paces this means "Have you a following?"

Among the rich who can through your energetic be persuaded to trade at our shop?" "An acquaintance?" "The only one who has a following?" "The only one who has a following?" "The only one who has a following?"

You and Your Child
Child Should Pick Own Dress

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

BETTY was being dressed. She stood primly before the mirror in a short, one-piece slip waiting for mother to bring out a dress. "I want to do with clothes, house-hold gadgets, or such things as women buy."

Mother stood before the open closet. From the corner of her eye Betty saw her mother's hand lit the hook of a dress hanger from a rod that spanned the closet. It held a simple blue cotton dress. Betty's eyes were fixed on it. "I want to do with clothes, house-hold gadgets, or such things as women buy."

According to Mr. Julia Van Dorn, a trustee of Hunter and several other free colleges, another stumbling block has fallen in the path of the girl whose family has had to struggle or she herself work her way through college.

"Great numbers of our girls come from families that could not afford to send their children to any college where tuition had to be paid—not to speak of board—and now, with fathers out of a job and no one at home earning, girls in such families, even if they keep up their studies, find themselves at graduation up against the emergency relief rulings. So that they are stopped even from offering their services for pay."

"Suppose," continued Mrs. Van Dorn, "that an unemployed father is receiving $15 a week allowance for his family. If his daughter, one of our graduates, were to accept a job at some small sum, which would raise the standard of living for the entire family, her father's allowance would immediately be discontinued. This is the truly tragic condition with which many of our graduates this year are faced."

Such a situation presents a problem that is more of a tragedy. It gives everyone—not only the parties immediately concerned—something to ponder. Possibly if the girl were not living under her father's roof, some solution might be found, but even so there would be so much red tape to unwind that the job would go to someone whose line of action was less tangled with recovery programs.

Even were conditions not what they are, it's only good common sense to have pursued some definite line of study, which would in time make one a specialist in that particular line. General knowledge isn't enough. It's a case of specialization, and the girl who knows one particular kind of work is going to have a better chance of connecting tuition than the girl who has a smattering, but no real knowledge of any one subject.

Vast numbers of college girls sell. Sometimes it is a stepping stone to other things, and sometimes it is because that is either what they are best fitted for, or because they have a puffing power on their spendthrift friends.

Short Cuts

To remove the shine that comes in pressing, place a dry cloth over the shiny place. Over this place a second cloth which has been wrung out in water. Pass over the spot lightly with an iron. If the material has a nap, brush with a stiff brush and repeat the process of steaming described.

For a real treat try bananas broiled with bacon. Roll half lengths of peeled banana in strips of bacon. Broil under the flame about fifteen minutes until bananas are tender.

Uniform Laws For State Are Urged At Meet

LOS ANGELES, July 13 — Steps toward framing legislation which would bind individual States together and solve a purported problem of Federal encroachment of State's rights were to be taken today by the national conference on commissioners on uniform State laws.

The conference executive committee was ready to present the proposal to the delegates, who number among their group prominent public and private legal minds of the country.

Under the conference's procedure the recommendation will be turned over to the "scope and program" committee, which will in turn study all angles of the matter and report its findings to the conference at its mid-winter meeting in January.

Wife Uncertain Whether She Is Married Or Not

LOS ANGELES, July 13 — UP — Mrs. Helen Ann Rock Getty former motion picture actress, today had testified that she was not certain she was married to Jean Paul Getty millionaire oilman and father of their two children.

Her testimony came when she was called as a witness in the action through which she seeks to have a receiver appointed for Getty's $20,000,000 fortune so he cannot remove assets from the State while her divorce action is pending.

Asked where she and Getty were married and by what kind of a ceremony, she replied:

"It was neither religious nor civil. It was a ceremony between Mr. Getty and myself in a New York City apartment."

REBELLION IS GROWING IN CONGRESS

undercover drive was a new move by House liberals to sign up a majority of the membership to a "round robin" against adjournment until the tax legislation is acted on.

A source close to the White House said that the activities of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the National Association of Manufacturers against the entire program was spurring the administration on to pushing the legislation through as soon as possible. Chairman Robert L. Doughton of the ways and means committee said it was possible that the bill the committee will draft next week will be in shape for House action by July 22.

NEW TAX PLAN

The Administration's graduated corporation tax plan would replace the flat present 13.34 percent tax on corporate income by a graduated tax of from possibly 10 to 17 percent, the smaller corporations paying the smaller tax.

Organized business has charged the effect would be to check large, efficient corporations, in which the savings of thousands of small stockholders are invested and nullify the business of "the smart man, bringing him down to the level of the man of less business acumen."

The committee member said he believed an excess profits tax at a rate far stiffer than the present levy on net earnings above 12-15 percent would be a more efficient means of taxing rich corporations.

Local Agents Of Nash Cars Are Feeling Chesty

Homes & Day, local Nash and Lafayette agents have pointed out chestnuts this morning by reason of having been advised yesterday that their sales record is way up in the high ratings.

With the close of business on the 10th, the Pacific Nash Motor Company of San Francisco announced that it had sold more new cars retail than sold during the entire year of 1934; sold more used cars than in the entire year of 1934; sold more cars wholesale than during the entire year of 1934; and that more Nash-Lafayette cars were registered in the Northern California territory for the first half of the year than were registered in the entire year of 1934.

THREE "PRECIOUS stones" with a value of about $10,000,000, or 10 times that of the famed Junkers diamond, were to be moved from the American Museum of Natural History, New York, to the new Hayden Planetarium. They were meteors, brought from Greenland 30 years ago by Admiral Peary. Above is one named "The Tent."

Independence Day Is Feted By French; New Revolution Is Feared

PARIS, July 13.—(U.P.) All France "make a riot of the people to the streets" to celebrate the birth of the French Republic, and punctuated by a day of strikes and a day of national mourning.

There were clashes between national groups, which have a long history towards French and their own, and the left wing societies, which are determined to defend the Republic against monarchism, dictatorship and bureaucracy.

Disturbances broke out in Paris at the beginning of the three days, which annually are given over to commemorating the anniversary of the day when the people rose and picked the battle to piece, stone by stone.

The first outbreak came when members of the Solidarite Francaise, nationalist in temper, came into conflict with Socialists who tried to prevent them from placing a wreath in the Place de la Republique. Police made several arrests and drove the demonstrators away, but the fighting broke out again.

Mobile guards and extra police were mobilized in every town in anticipation of riots. While 90 percent of the populace wanted nothing more than to take their sweethearts into the streets and dance, or sit calmly in little bistros and drink, the other 10 percent, taking its politics as seriously as religion, was determined to closed a condition of affairs of which the general public was ignorant. Certainly it is not to be argued that the situation should have been permitted to exist.

It is a fact to remain quiet and indifferent while crime and corruption flourish, just because of a inclination to spend a few party dollars than our moral sense has degenerated to a very low scale.

The grand jury report in itself furnished sufficient justification of its work and expenditures. It was in session a year and it took occasion to look into a number of dark and ill smelling places.

That was its duty and personality. I believe like Judge Thomas D. Johnston who complimented the members, that they are entitled to commendation from us, the people in whose behalf they served. If they had failed to do so, then we could justifiably say they had been derelict to the task allotted them.

Instead of criticism because of a few loose dollars spent in the interest of public decency, I feel, and am motivated to say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

San Jose Gives Upside-Down Boy A Warm Welcome

SAN JOSE, July 13.—(U.P.)—A civic welcoming committee, a large delegation of friends and many relatives greeted Jimmy Nelson, 13, San Jose's "upside-down" stomach boy, who returned today after two and a half months in a eastern hospital, where a corrective operation was performed on his stomach.

Jimmy reported the best thing about having a stomach right side up, is that you can eat anything you want to and the best thing in the world a guy can eat is ham and eggs.

Jimmy hopes to go to Omaha some day to see Aileen Jane McHenry, on whom a similar operation was performed shortly before Jimmy was sent East by interested San Jose citizens. He especially remembers Aileen because she told him there was nothing to be frightened of when he was just a little bit scared of the operation.

FINANCIAL SITUATION IN MUDDLE

Chief funds for one year only with the understanding that if conditions did not improve quickly enough it would be necessary to raise another $25,000,000 for this purpose. So far every indication has pointed to the fact at least this amount will be necessary for the last half of the fiscal period.

In addition the pending suits questioning the constitutionality of the 3 percent sales tax with foodstuffs exempted had added to the confusion, although State officials believe a return to the 2 percent rate, as provided in the original Riley-Stewart plan, would not result in any substantial loss to the State inasmuch as food again would become taxable.

VOTE ON BONDS

One uncertain feature of the program will be settled at the special election August 13 when the people vote on the proposal to issue bonds totaling $13,350,000, revenue from which would be used principally to construct buildings to relieve seriously overcrowded conditions at State prisons, hospitals and other institutions.

Should the bond issue fail the special session will have that much more revenue to raise inasmuch as the proposed construction is considered vital.

Enabling legislation necessary for the operation of propositions 1 and 3 on the August ballot were signed today by Governor Merriam. The first provides for establishment of a State prison for first offenders in Southern California and the second authorizes creation of the Reformer department to administer proposed construction of a dam in Reformer canyon, Napa county.

TEXAS BANGIT CAPTURED ON BUTTE SPREE

BUTTE, Mont., July 13.—(U.P.)—Hilarity induced by Montana firewater and the desire to "whop it up" in true western fashion at Butte's annual rodeo celebration to night had caused the capture of a long sought Texas robber.

Charles Harold Hopkins was being held in the city jail as a fugitive from Beaumont, Texas, where he was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth prison for robbing a postoffice.

Hopkins was captured here late last night after firing several bullets on one of Butte's busiest street corners, wounding one youth, scaring several others into a near stampede, and causing reports that William Mahan, Weyerhaeuser kidnap suspect had been captured.

He was identified late today thru fingerprints as Hopkins.

Police said he escaped from Federal officers in Kansas City Union station last April 16, as he was en route to Leavenworth Federal prison with several other prisoners. Hopkins told officers to remove his manacles so he could eat breakfast and in the confusion that followed he disappeared.

Federal officers were reported en route from Beaumont to transport him back to Texas.

Legion Official Is Threatened By Folsom Laborer

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—(U.P.)—John Buckley, 28, former Folsom City laborer, was sought today on a charge of making threats against the life of Joseph J. Pape, public speaking instructor and former head of the American Legion speaking bureau.

Pape told police that he went to the home of his estranged wife, Mrs. Pape, 33, beauty parlor operator, to attempt a reconciliation and that Buckley was there and started a fight.

He claimed that Buckley cursed him, tried to choke him and threatened to kill him.

Abandonment Of State Power Plan Denied by Officer

SACRAMENTO, July 13.—(U.P.)—Earl Lee Kelly, State Director of Public Works, today denied he was aware of any move to eliminate power development through the proposed Kennel Dam unit of the Central Valley project.

His statement was issued in answer to a demand by the El Camino Grange of Geber that rumored charges either be confirmed or denied.

"I have heard nothing of the rumor and know of no plan to drop power development as far as the State is concerned," Kelly said.

Daughter Of Roosevelt Is Named In Suit

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 13.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettger, daughter of President Roosevelt, was named defendant in a foreclosure suit filed today in Supreme Court. Louis H. Pink, State Superintendent of Insurance, filed the suit as liquidator for the Westchester Title and Trust Company. He charged Mrs. Boettger's first husband, Curtis B. Dall, two other persons and two villages still owed $58,000 on a $65,000 loan made by the Westchester Company in 1928. Interest has been in default since June 1, 1934, he said.
